To avail Dr. Jeppiaar Remibai Scholarship, student shall intimate to the head of the department to which the student belongs to and the eligibility is checked fundamentally by the department.

Screening

After the initial screening, the eligible candidates are called for the counseling procedure that comprises of test and interview before the Scholarship committee. If any NGOs are there as facilitators, NGOs are requested to perform the ground level verification. These NGOs representatives are informed to attend the counseling sessions along with the students and parents. Selected students are well informed about the responsibilities, rules and regulations of the institution. Selected students are requested to report the institution along with the necessary documents on the inaugural day for first years to the induction program.

Selection Process of NGOs

The institution takes a very calculated and proactive approach in the selection process of NGOs as facilitators in the implementation of this policy. When any NGO approaches the institution as a facilitator, a thorough credibility check is performed by the committee. The following parameters are taken into consideration while assessing and selecting the NGO to get associated in the policy implementation as a facilitator (to the extent of acting as the initial bridge between the deserving, aspiring candidates and the institution); duration of the NGO from inception, number of beneficiaries, values on which the NGO is working and the quality of the scrutiny process of the NGO.

Note: The scrutiny is subjected to the review every year. NGO will be intimated with their quota of the seats every year by the committee.

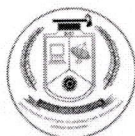

7. Responsibilities

Compliance, reporting and review of Performance

The over-reaching responsibility for the scholarships policy rests with the Vice Chancellor. Operational and administration rests with the Dean (Student Affairs). The committee mentioned in this policy play a role in ensuring the successful implementation of the Sathyabama Institute of Science and Technology Student Scholarship Scheme.

Reporting

This is the responsibility of the committee to maintain the record of all scholarships. Every semester, the committee should meet, review the performance of the scholarship students and the report shall be submitted to the Vice Chancellor.
