2. Apply at a US embassy or consulate for J visa(s) according to their instructions. Go to this site to locate a specific embassy or consulate's website: <http://usembassy.state.gov/>

All J-1 exchange visitors and their dependents are required by the federal regulations to maintain health insurance while in the US in J status. Please obtain the type of health insurance as described in the USDOS Welcome Brochure (site address listed above). If you are to be paid by Purdue University, you should check with your department to see if Purdue staff insurance will cover you. You will be required to show proof of insurance upon reporting to Purdue. It is easier to purchase this insurance before you enter the US as 1) you will not be able to purchase this insurance from Purdue and 2) you must show proof of insurance before Purdue grants you campus internet access. You may purchase insurance from a private agency in your home country or from an US based insurance company that issues insurance for visitors to the US. A few are listed here.

- Seven Corners, Inc.:
<https://purchase.sevencorners.com/policygroup/HW75DKN/HGPTCPN/>
- Taian Financial LLC: taianfinancial.com/#spurdue
- Insubuy Inc.: <http://www.insubuy.com/j1-visa-health-insurance/>

The important point to remember is that the insurance for you and your dependents has to meet the requirements as described in the USDOS Welcome Brochure (site address listed above).

Hovde Hall of Administration – 610 Purdue Mall – West Lafayette, IN 47907 – (765) 494-9705

To enter the US, present the following to the US Customs & Border Patrol (USCBP) officer at the Port-of-Entry (POE) for yourself and any dependents with you:

- DS2019
- Passport valid 6 months beyond date of entry to the US
- Visa (Canadian citizens will not need a J visa but will need to show proof of SEVIS fee payment at the POE [explained on the previous page]).

All J-1 exchange visitors must enter the US no later than 20 days after the DS2019 start date (item 3 on this form). If you plan to arrive earlier, you may enter up to 30 days before the start date. Please contact your Purdue department ISS liaison if you are not able to arrive in the US by this time period so that we can amend your start date. (For example, if your start date is April 1st, you may arrive as early as March 2nd or as late as April 20th.) If your start date is amended to allow for a later arrival, a new DS2019 is not needed, but show whatever DS2019's you have to US government officers whenever appearing before them during the visa application process or at the POE.

Upon arrival, please report to your ISS liaison, Karen Walker, in the Dept of Health Sciences for the e-checkin process. You will need the following:

- Local street address where you plan to sleep that night (even if temporary).
- Emergency contact info to contact if you were placed in a hospital that night. This information should be for a family member or close family friend. Contacts in your home country are preferred, but US contact info can also be given.
- Proof of health insurance in English as you would show if you were in a hospital that night. For those paid by Purdue, this proof would be your job offer letter stating you will receive benefits.
- The following original documents for yourself and any J-2 dependents who entered the US with you:
 - DS2019, Passport, J Visa stamp, and I-94. The I-94 is obtained online after you enter the US at www.cbp.gov/i94.

All J-2 dependents must arrive on or after the J-1 has arrived (not before). If your dependents arrive later, please bring the above documents to ISS.

For a map of the campus, go to http://www.purdue.edu/campus_map/. To arrange housing in this area, please work with your Purdue supervisor/inviting professor and/or the department ISS liaison. For off-campus housing options, the site could be useful: <http://www.housing.purdue.edu/offcampus/>.

If you have any questions before arriving in the US, please contact the department ISS liaison first. We wish you a safe and pleasant trip to the United States.

Sincerely,

Research Statement for Dr Ajith Kumar Research Fellow at the University of Surrey

To whom it may concern

Solid oxide steam electrolysis (SOSE) is a promising technology for green hydrogen production with high efficiency, to play an important role in meeting the net zero targets. This project will develop tubular SOSE stacks by using thermally sprayed catalyst coatings to enhance stability and performance. The Research Fellow will support the development and manufacturing of the tubular SOSE stack led by our project partner at Robert Gordon University, in collaboration with the National Nuclear Laboratory, and the Science and Technology Facilities Council.

Dr Ajith Kumar completed his PhD in 2021 from Sathyabama Institute of Science and Technology (Chennai, India) with his PhD thesis entitled: Investigation on Microstructural and Electrical Properties of Ceria based Electrolytes and Electrodes for Intermediate Temperature Solid Oxide Fuel Cells. He has been working as a Scientific Assistant at Sathyabama Institute of Science and Technology since June 2021. Dr Ajith Kumar has abundant experience in synthesizing and characterising ceramic nanomaterials, thin film coating, fabrication and electrochemical measurement of solid oxide fuel cells, with 15 published papers in reputable journals. His rich experience in solid oxide fuel cells (which share similar materials but operate at the reverse mode of SOSE) will be extremely helpful and perfectly meet the requirement for this project.

Dr Ajith Kumar will join my group at the department of Chemical and Process Engineering, University of Surrey, to develop on-chip technology and in-situ characterizations on metal-CO₂ batteries since 12 September 2022. Detailed tasks include: (1) Synthesise, characterise, and testing various ceramic-based nanocomposites for fabrication of solid oxide electrolysis cells; (2) Cell fabrication through the application of advanced thin layer coating routes (like thermal spray coating, screen printing, spin coating, etc.) for the fabrication and characterisation of the electrolysis cell individual layers; (3) electrochemical performance analysis, impedance measurements, and optimisation of the fabricated cell for efficient hydrogen production by high-temperature steam electrolysis; and (4) Assist in publishing high-quality journal papers and/or intellectual property to maximise the impact of the research group/project and contributing to the supervision of students in the research group (postgraduates and undergraduates).

I can confirm that Dr Ajith Kumar will be participating in research at PhD Level or above in subject areas of Physical Sciences and Engineering (CAH-07-02-01 – Chemistry, CAH-07-03-03 - Materials Science, CAH 10-01-09 Chemical process and energy engineering). All the research will be conducted under my supervision following the roles of the University of Surrey and EPSRC.

Umfang der Tätigkeit des Forschers Details of the researcher's activity Brijitta Joseph Boniface wird bei der Erforschung künftiger Quantentechnologien tätig sein. Das Auftreten von durch Unordnung verursachten magnetischen Zuständen in frustrierten Magneten ist einer der wichtigsten und aktuellsten Aspekte des Magnetismus. Es ist aber noch immer nicht klar, wie sich die Unordnung auf die Grundzustände auswirkt. Wir schlagen vor, den Einfluss von Unordnung auf Quantenskalen zu untersuchen und verschiedene Möglichkeiten zur Abstimmung von Quantengrundzuständen durch korrelierte Unordnung in Spin-Eis-Pyrochoren und verwandten Verbindungen gründlich zu erforschen. Dies kann durch einen neuartigen Ansatz erreicht werden, der die systematische Festkörpersynthese von Proben mit kontrollierter Unordnung mit einer Reihe fortschrittlicher Neutronenstreuungstechniken und theoretischer Modellierung kombiniert. Die vorgeschlagenen Forschungsarbeiten könnten einen interessanten Weg für die potenzielle Realisierung von Quantenspinflüssigkeiten eröffnen, die eine ideale Quantenmaterialplattform für die Erforschung künftiger Quantentechnologien sein können. Die Anwesenheit des Forschers ist zwingend erforderlich und aus wirtschaftlicher Sicht notwendig. Die Forschungstätigkeit kann nicht verschoben oder im Ausland verrichtet werden.

Dear Amit,

You recently received notification of the acceptance of your abstract for either an oral or poster presentation at the 5th International Symposium on the Ocean in High CO2 World in September in Lima, Peru.

Congratulations. With this email, I am notifying you that you have been selected to receive a travel subsidy funded by United States federal agencies - NOAA, NASA and NSF - to support your travel to this important conference. The travel subsidy is being administered by the Ocean Carbon Biogeochemistry Program at WHOI by Mary Zawoysky (cc'd above). This travel subsidy can ONLY be used to purchase your airfare to the conference and cannot exceed $2500. If you cannot find a ticket for less than $2500, please let us know in the event that we have leftover funds. You are responsible for all other costs associated with this travel in addition to any visas, if needed.

The steps involved with accessing your travel stipend are the following:

- 1) Please research available flight options for you to reach Lima from India.
- 2) If at all possible, you MUST fly on a US or EU flagged airline as this is a requirement when using U.S. government funds to buy your flight.
- 3) Please send your proposed flight itinerary to Mary and Gabby (copied on this email) so that they can approve your flight.
- 4) You will purchase your own flight. If you purchase your flight without approval, you risk not being reimbursed for it. We suggest purchasing a non-refundable, changeable ticket in the event that COVID delays your travel.
- 5) Even before the mtg happens, you may submit your receipt for reimbursement.

Again, you MUST, if at all possible, travel on a US (or EU) owned airline according to the Fly America Act and associated Open Skies Treaty. If you have trouble finding a ticket which meets these requirements, please let us know.

Mary at OCB is very busy right now with their summer meeting planning so she will not commit to making any reimbursements before mid July. When you are ready for reimbursement, reach out to Mary for the required forms and paperwork. You do NOT need to wait until after the High CO2 mtg for reimbursement.

Finally, we are reserving a small cushion in the unfortunate event that any of you test positive for COVID while in Peru and cannot travel back at the end of the conference. These funds, available first come,

Abstract

We use neutral and ionic poly(N-isopropylacrylamide) microgels to study the phase behavior of so-called soft colloids, and the influence of an externally applied electric field. To conclude on the interaction potential of microgels and its dependence on possible variations of the particle size as a function of field strength, temperature and concentration, systematic experimental information is needed. Therefore, we have been performing small-angle neutron scattering experiments under zero average contrast to cancel the structure factors and obtain information about single particle properties at high concentrations. By turning to small-angle x-ray scattering we now aim to also measure the structure factor as a function of field strength, temperature and concentration. Together with the SANS data, this complementary information will allow us to conclude on the field strength, temperature and concentration dependent inter-particle interactions and phases formed in these soft and strongly interacting systems.

This is an interesting proposal on a subject that is at the core of the applicant's group and which is of current main interest. A hundred samples to be measured within the requested 48 hours seems perfectly reasonable. I suggest to fully support this proposal.

28.05.2019 // Grade
Status: Final

It is proposed to investigate cross-linked neutral and ionic micro gel particles and in particular their interactions as a function of concentration, temperature, cross-linking and external electric field. Microgels attract considerable interest scientifically and industrially with their interactions being crucial for their collective behaviour. Thus, the proposers address a very interesting and timely issue. The proposers have already addressed these questions by SANS experiments and now propose to complement these experiments by SAXS measurements to complete the necessary information to obtain unambiguous information on the microgel particles and their interactions. This is a very well-prepared and thought-through proposal which should be granted beam time.

29.05.2019 // Grade
Status: Final
Recommended Units:

The minimal q of 0.001Å⁻¹ is often challenging but, in principle, feasible. It'll be a question of reliable background subtraction, which is hard to assess without detailed knowledge about the sample systems and their components to be measured independently. Within EUSMI, cSAXS is certainly the appropriate instrument for such measurements. The requested beamtime seems appropriate. Reducing it will likely cut into the number of samples, parameters and states that can be studied and, thereby, affect directly the significance of the measurements. Applying the electric field relies on the sample stage brought by the users. Controlling it, ideally from the same software that controls the measurements, may require some extra work but can most likely be accomplished. (As fall back, it's always possible to control the electric field and the measurements independent of each other.)

In this project, we investigated the structure factor of mixtures of hydrogenated and deuterated neutral and ionic PNIPAM microgels as a function of volume fraction and temperature under the so-called zero average contrast (ZAC) condition obtained by performing small-angle neutron scattering (SANS) measurements. In addition, we also performed measurements on ionic microgels (PNIPAM-co-AAc) at volume fractions stretching from the dilute fluid regime to far above close packing under an applied electric field. Experiments in the absence of an electric field were carried out in disposable 1.5 mm thickness quartz capillaries (Hilgenberg GmbH, Malsfeld, Germany), introduced in a metallic sample holder. The temperature was controlled, within ± 0.4 °C, using an external recirculating water bath.

Dear Dr. Jayaraman:

I am pleased to offer you a postdoctoral fellow appointment in the Department of Chemistry for the following period: July 3, 2017 to June 30, 2018. As is customary, this appointment is subject to a three month probationary period. During your appointment, you will be supervised by Dr. Aicheng Chen, Canada Research Chair in Materials and Environmental Chemistry, Department of Chemistry, on a research project related to the following topic (as described in the Lakehead University Request for Post-Doctoral Fellow (PDF) or Visiting Scholar (VS) Appointment/Re-Appointment Form): "Synthesis and electrochemical study of carbon-based nanomaterials for green chemistry applications."

During your appointment, you will be paid a fellowship of $35,000/year (to be paid out in equal installments semi-monthly during the term of the appointment). The fellowship will be paid out of Dr. Chen's NSERC Discovery Grant funding. This appointment is conditional upon continued availability of funding.

Enclosed, please find a copy of the Lakehead University Postdoctoral Fellows and Visiting Scholars Policy. In order for you to take up this position, you will be responsible for obtaining the relevant work permit from an immigration officer at a Canadian Consulate or at your port of entry. For clarification, your application for an employment visa does not require Canadian Employment validation of this offer, as you will be in the exempt category of Postdoctoral Fellow (C44). Prior to commencement of this appointment, you are required to provide a copy of your valid work permit to the Office of Research Services. Lakehead University will provide you with the required offer of employment (Labour Market Impact Assessment [LMIA]-exempt) ID number for inclusion in your work permit application form.

You will be responsible for your living expenses, University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP) medical expenses, and travel costs. As a condition of your appointment with Lakehead University, you will be enrolled in the University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP) for a minimum of three months at a cost of $51 CDN per month. You should be eligible for health insurance through the Ontario government (OHIP), at no cost to you, after a three-month waiting period. Due to this three month waiting period, upon your arrival at Lakehead University, you should immediately apply for OHIP coverage at the Ontario Service Office on 435 James Street South. If applicable, your spouse and/or dependent children are deemed ineligible for health insurance through the Ontario government, you must enrol and pay for UHIP at a cost of approximately $51 CDN per person per month. For detailed information regarding UHIP, please visit www.uhip.ca.

Upon your arrival at Lakehead University, please visit Human Resources located at UC 0003 (below the Agora) to obtain the required system ID and to register for health and safety training. Following this, please visit the library to obtain your ID card. You must register with the Lakehead Student Accounts Office and pick up your health insurance card. You will need to see Yvonne Vennes-Kennedy, International Financial Officer, and she is located in the Student Accounts Office- UC 0002 (just down from Human Resources). Yvonne will also process your payment for UHIP at this time. For more information you can email Yvonne at yvonne.vennes-kennedy@lakeheadu.ca or 807-343-8917.

Payments to postdoctoral fellows are normally considered taxable income. Although payments treated as fellowships for income tax purposes do not require withholding tax at source, it may be advisable to have regular tax deductions made. The income is taxable and regular deductions will avoid owing a large amount at the time of filing an income tax return. For more information, contact Canada Revenue Agency www.cra-arc.gc.ca. Upon your arrival at Lakehead, please let our Human Resources Department know if you would like income tax deducted at source.

This postdoctoral fellow appointment may be terminated at any time by the University for cause (for example, a material failure to meet the specified service standards), in which case the postdoctoral fellow is not entitled to any further payments beyond those earned for services provided up to the date of the termination of the appointment. For any reason, early termination of the appointment may also occur if either party provides written notice according to the Employment Standards Act.

Lakehead University is committed to providing, upon request, suitable accommodations for all University members with disabilities that take into account the needs of the person with the disability. For further information regarding accommodation, please refer to the following website: <https://www.lakeheadu.ca/current-students/student-services/accessibility/commitments/>.

I look forward to your written acceptance of this offer by May 8, 2017 and to welcoming you to Lakehead University.
