Mathematical modelling is the technique of representing real-world situations using various mathematical structures such as graphs, equations, diagrams, scatterplots, tree diagrams, and so on. The model is an abstraction that boils down a problem to its most basic elements.

Simulating and designing control systems requires the use of mathematical models. The mathematical model's goal is to be a simplified representation of reality, simulating the key properties of the system under investigation.

Mathematical modelling can be used for a number of different reasons. How well any particular objective is achieved depends on both the state of knowledge about a system and how well the modelling is done.

the stages involved in mathematical modelling are formulation, solution, interpretation and validation.

This program is to familiarise some models in engineering and Industry

The main aim of this program is to familiarise the tool MATHEMATICA to staff students and scholars. Mathematica offers an interactive classroom experience that helps students explore and grasp concepts, plus gives faculty the tools they need to easily create supporting course materials, assignments, and presentations.

Applications of MATHEMATICA

Mathematica is a mathematical computation program used in many scientific, engineering, mathematical, and computing fields. Unlike other systems, Mathematica applies intelligent automation in every part of the system, from algorithm selection to plot layout and user interface design.

Comparison with MATLAB

When we compare Mathematica and Matlab, Mathematica is more powerful. Mathematica is good at handling numerical work and it is a perfect programming system whereas Matlab is not a perfect programming system. Symbolic manipulation is better and easy in Mathematica than in Matlab.

Applications of partial differential equations

4 of 107

simplifies to

$$p \frac{\partial(u, v)}{\partial(y, z)} + q \frac{\partial(u, v)}{\partial(z, x)} = \frac{\partial(u, v)}{\partial(x, y)}$$

This is only called as Lagrange's linear PDE

$$Pp + Qq = R$$

Where $P = \frac{\partial(u, v)}{\partial(y, z)}$, $Q = \frac{\partial(u, v)}{\partial(z, x)}$, $R = \frac{\partial(u, v)}{\partial(x, y)}$

- Classification of first order partial differential equations
- Linear equation: A first order PDE is said to be a linear equation if it is linear in p, q and z , i.e., if it is of the form
$$P(x, y)p + Q(x, y)q = R(x, y)z + S(x, y)$$
Ex: $yp - xq = xyz + x$
- Semi-linear equation: A first order PDE is said to be a semi-linear equation if it is linear in p, q and the coefficients of p and q are
