12th Oct 2020: Adapting to the New Normal

The event was conducted on 12 October 2020, in seminar hall venue -2 .The Program started by 2.00p.m with the welcome address by Dr.Mercy. She gave a warm welcome to the Chief Patrons, Patrons and Management Representatives. Ms.Pavithra of B.A gave an introduction about the chief Guest Dr.Sufina K, Assistant Professor, Department of English, Madurai Kamaraj University, Sivakasi. There was a total number of 65 participants.

The Chief Guest gave a clear picture on how to adapt to the new normal.

She started her speech by explaining the topic new normal is and the way it works. The points she discussed are as follows.

This situation is both uncertain and temporary! It is okay not to feel okay. It is also okay (and encouraged) to seek help and support! Consider this a time to reflect on who you want to be during this time.

Focus on what is within your control. It is good to be informed, it is a good idea to take breaks from conversations, news, and information related to COVID-19.

Adjustment is a process that looks differently for most people. This process is not liner or well defined. Patience and flexibility are important. Please be respectful of where you are in the process (some self-compassion can go a long way) and of where others are.

It is okay to be curious about where your friends, family, and others are in their process and to seek to understand their wants and needs at this time. Do not forget to tell them what you want and need too! Setting a routine can be helpful! In addition to doing your schoolwork make sure

The event was conducted on 17 March 2021, in seminar hall venue -2 .The Program started by 2.00 p.m with the welcome address by Dr. Amutha Monica She gave a warm welcome to the Chief Patrons, Patrons and Management Representatives. Mr. Madev Raj of B.A gave an introduction about the chief Guest Dr.Parveen Banu, Psychologist and Researcher, Chennai. There was a total number of 60 participants.

The Chief Guest gave a intense speech on Interpersonal and Effective Communication.

She started his speech by explaining about Interpersonal skills and her points are as follows.

Interpersonal and effective communication refers to as social intelligence. They depend on reading the signals others send and interpreting them accurately in order to form a response. Strong interpersonal skills such as negotiating, problem solving, and knowledge sharing are the main requirements for many jobs. Other skills are essential qualifications for all employees, including: Teamwork, Verbal and written communication, Dependability, Responsibility and Empathy.

It is difficult to imagine a company thriving if its employees do not have these interpersonal skills. Most jobs are not isolated and require the interaction between many individuals within a firm. These can be colleagues on your level or those with a higher role in the firm, such as a managing director or CEO. Having strong interpersonal skills will allow for more efficiency in getting tasks done as well as done correctly all to the betterment of the company. Having poor, interpersonal skills can be a detriment. Even if an employee is able to do their work correctly and well, having poor interpersonal skills can be a factor in the limitations of their growth at a firm as

.00 p.m with the welcome address by Dr. Sowmiya. She gave a warm welcome to the Chief Patrons, Patrons and Management Representatives. Mr. Kareem of B.A gave an introduction about the chief Guest Ms.S.Vinitha, Psychologist and Organization Development Specialist, The Mind Care India, Chennai There was a total number of 60 participants.

The Chief Guest gave a vivid speech on Ethics, Values and Respect.

She started his speech by explaining about ethical values and respect for fellow human being, organization, and The event was conducted on 19 January 2021, in seminar hall venue -2 .The Program started by 2at a personal level. She discussed the following points.

Values: values are “things that have an intrinsic worth in usefulness or importance to the possessor,” or “principles, standards, or qualities considered worthwhile or desirable.” However, it is important to note that, although we may tend to think of a value as something good, virtually all values are morally relative – neutral, really – until they are qualified by asking, “How is it good?” or “Good to whom?” The “good” can sometimes be just a matter of opinion or taste, or driven by culture, religion, habit, circumstance, or environment, etc. Morals: Moral values are relative values that protect life and are respectful of the dual life value of self and others. The great moral values, such as truth, freedom, charity, etc., have one thing in common. When they are functioning correctly, they are life protecting or life enhancing for all. But they are still relative values. Our relative moral values must be constantly examined to make sure that they are always performing their life-protecting mission. Even the Marine Corps core values of “honor, courage and commitment” require examination in this context. Ethics: A person who knows the difference between right and wrong and chooses right is moral. A person whose morality is reflected in his willingness to do the right thing – even if it is hard or dangerous – is ethical. Ethics are moral values in action.
